U.S. POLITICAL ENGAGEMENT OVERVIEW

GM★PAC

2023 U.S. POLITICAL ENGAGEMENT OVERVIEW

INTRODUCTION

General Motors is invested in the communities where we live and work. We strive to bring our customers the innovation they demand, provide shareholders value on their investment and be a responsible corporate citizen. A critical component of these efforts is actively participating in the political process. GM remains engaged through trade association and business organization memberships, General Motors Political Action Committee (GM PAC) political contributions, and lobbying.

In this report, we provide important information on how we participate in the political process. Every action we take is in strict compliance with local, state and federal law.

Decisions are made without regard to political party affiliation and always mindful of our company values, including GM's Policy on U.S. Corporate Political Contributions and Expenditures and our vision of Zero Crashes, Zero Emissions, and Zero Congestion. Additionally, the Governance and Corporate Responsibility Committee within the Board of Directors is responsible for oversight of these activities, and we have a robust management-driven delegation of authority process. Together, these guardrails are directed to one objective: to ensure we have an effective, responsible voice in policy discussions that impact our business, our employees, our customers, and our communities.

Omar Vargas
VP and Head of Global Public Policy
Chair, GM PAC

Our decisions are grounded in GM's public policy positions and the best interests of our business and our employees.

Political Engagement

U.S. public policy – federal, state, and local legislation, regulation, and administrative action – can significantly affect GM’s business goals. GM participates in these and related political processes to ensure policymakers are informed by our expertise and insights when considering policies that impact our operations. GM and our PAC make political contributions to candidates and entities that support our industry, reflect our values and principles, and advance our vision for the future of mobility. GM engages in lobbying and participates in various trade associations, business, and public policy organizations that advocate on issues important to the company.

We believe that strong, transparent engagement is a critical and appropriate role for companies. GM complies with federal, state, and local laws including those governing lobbying and campaign finance, discloses its lobbying activities and political contributions, and administers a robust training and compliance program.

Transparency and Disclosure

As part of our overall effort to promote political transparency and accountability, GM voluntarily publishes this annual report of political contributions.

In addition, GM files publicly available federal Lobbying Disclosure Act Reports each quarter, which disclose GM’s federal lobbying expenditures, describes legislation and issues covered by lobbying activities, and identifies the registered individuals who lobbied on behalf of GM. GM also files similar periodic reports with states and localities as applicable. Links to these reports are available below.

CENTER FOR POLITICAL ACCOUNTABILITY

In recognition of the best-in-class nature of GM’s disclosure, the Center for Political Accountability’s Zicklin Index of Corporate Political Accountability and Disclosure, which benchmarks the political disclosure and accountability policies and practices of leading U.S. public companies, has recognized the quality of our disclosures, and ranked GM as a Trendsetter, its highest ranking, among S&P 500 companies.

Governance – Board of Directors Oversight

The Governance and Corporate Responsibility Committee of the Board of Directors oversees the company’s political engagement strategy. This includes political contributions and lobbying expenditures made during the past year and previews the framework for the coming year. During these reviews, the Committee can seek adjustments to the framework. The Board of Directors also receives frequent updates from management regarding significant global policy issues facing the Company. The Vice President, Global Public Policy is responsible for the operational activities and management consistent with this oversight and that position reports to the Executive Vice President - Legal, Policy, Cybersecurity & Strategic Technology Initiatives.

Additional Governance

Corporate political spending plans and decisions are reviewed and approved by select senior management and based on the framework reviewed with the Governance and Corporate Responsibility Committee.

Federal law generally does not permit contributions, including in-kind contributions, by corporations to candidates for federal office or national party committees. However, corporations may contribute to candidates running for state or local office in some states and may contribute to various organizations that engage in political activities.

2023 FEDERAL POLICY PRIORITIES

Autonomous Vehicles

GM advocates for a federal legal and regulatory environment that enables safe deployment of self-driving vehicles. Congress is working on legislation to clarify federal and state regulatory responsibilities, update Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards (FMVSS) for self-driving vehicles, and expand National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) granted exemptions to allow for vehicle deployment at scale to candidates running for state or local office in some states and may contribute to various organizations that engage in political activities.

Data Privacy

GM continues to advocate for a single, uniform federal privacy law that would enable industry to understand and comply on a more global, uniform scale. A comprehensive federal bill will provide clarity and consistency for customers who live, work, transact, and drive across state lines, and for companies who already know how important it is to secure and maintain the trust of those customers.

Electric Vehicles & Charging Infrastructure

GM is committed to a future with zero emissions through accelerating deployment of EVs for everyday use. During the 117th Congress, the Bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act and the Inflation Reduction Act were signed into law. Both pieces of legislation contained numerous provisions that will assist in the acceleration of EV charging, consumer and commercial adoption of EVs, and domestic battery manufacturing. GM is working with the 118th Congress and the Biden Administration to provide input as they oversee and write the accompanying regulations that will implement the programs.

Fuel Economy

GM supports modernizing fuel economy standards and creating one national program. This is why GM has called for a U.S. National Zero Emissions Vehicle (NZEV) program. We will work with the Biden Administration including through the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and NHTSA, along with the California Air Resources Board (CARB), to encourage support for this program on our way to a Zero Emission future.

International Competitiveness and Supply Chains

GM advocates for policies that contribute to the future success of American manufacturing and keeps our country's vehicles and services competitive on a global scale. Our advocacy efforts focus on issues that are vital to developing secure, sustainable, and scalable supply chains for components which are critical to achieving GM's Zero, Zero, Zero vision. These components include semiconductors, batteries, and critical minerals. Establishing secure, sustainable, scalable, and cost-competitive value chains are a key to enabling an all-electric, clean transportation future.

Safety

Top policy issues for GM include mitigating distracted driving, the safe deployment of self-driving vehicles, and passenger safety, and product cybersecurity. We have advocated for strong safety legislation on the state and federal levels, including safety legislation that was enacted as part of the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act (IIJA).

Safety is a top priority for GM. Global Public Policy works directly with policymakers throughout the country, as well as federal regulators at NHTSA, to focus on safe vehicles and roadways for all.

2023 STATE AND LOCAL POLICY PRIORITIES

Autonomous Vehicles

GM advocates for legislative and regulatory opportunities that provide for the safe expansion and use of self-driving vehicle systems. On the state and local levels, GM works closely with governments to allow testing and deployment of self-driving vehicles without human drivers, as well as advocates for other key issues that support GM's Mobility initiatives.

Electric Vehicles and Charging Infrastructure

GM advocates for the advancement and investment in electric vehicle incentives and charging infrastructure in states across the U.S. GM supports state and local policies that aide in the adoption of electric vehicles by Americans and help fuel GM's vision of Zero Crashes, Zero Emissions, and Zero Congestion.

Economic Development

Today, GM is directly responsible for more than 95,000 US jobs and is the economic lifeblood of communities throughout the country. GM works closely with state and local governments on economic development opportunities to strengthen American manufacturing, job creation, and retention.

Cybersecurity and Data Privacy

GM engages to protect our customers and the company from policies which would create unnecessary cybersecurity and privacy risks including for example when competitors or special interest groups seek mandates with the goal of accessing our customer or vehicle data.

Dealer Franchise

Each year, GM engages with state legislatures when state auto dealer trade associations seek to modify state auto dealer franchise laws with the intention of limiting manufacturers' authority to implement policies and practices established through dealer sales and service agreements. In recent years, states have introduced legislation to regulate warranty reimbursement for parts and labor, vehicle subscription services, over the air (OTA) updates, measures to prohibit manufacturers' sale of parts, as well as restrictions on manufacturer vehicle sales incentives and dealer facility programs.

These issues have the potential to raise costs and complexity for auto manufacturers and dramatically increase vehicle and auto parts prices for consumers.

Lemon Laws

Every interaction with a GM customer is important. Current abuses of Lemon Laws in certain states by a small group of attorneys harm customers through excessive delays and fees. GM supports the changes proposed by the Civil Justice Association of California.

Workforce Development

As demand for EVs increases, GM needs programs that develop a domestic workforce with the necessary skills to support growth and competitiveness of EV supply chains and manufacturing.

Lobbying

GM is committed to adhering to the highest ethical standards when engaging in all political activities. As such, GM complies with all federal, state, and local laws and regulations governing lobbying including registrations and reporting. All lobbying expenditures and reporting are done in strict compliance with these laws.

GM files federal lobbying reports quarterly with the Office of the Clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives and the Secretary of the U.S. Senate, pursuant to the federal Lobby Disclosure Act.

Details of GM's 2022 Federal Lobbying Disclosure and Federal Contribution Reports can be found at:

Additionally, GM files state lobbying reports with the appropriate state governing agencies in compliance with the requirements in respective states. These reports are publicly available in the respective jurisdictions.

Trade Association and Business Organization Memberships

GM holds memberships in trade associations and business organizations representing the automotive industry and the business community. Engaging with other stakeholders helps us gain perspective and views on public policy issues that impact our company. Additionally, participating in a broad array of groups expands the company's ability to build coalitions in support of its policy positions.

GM does not agree with all the positions of every industry, trade, or policy organization in which it participates. However, through participation and active engagement with these organizations, GM seeks to influence their positions in a manner that aligns with GM's interests.

Corporate Political Contributions

GM and the PAC make political contributions in connection with U.S. state or local elections as permitted by law. We contribute to political parties, political action committees and ballot measure committees in the furtherance of public policies that support the company's business goals. GM does not make independent expenditures to expressly advocate for the election or defeat of candidates.

Policy Regarding Making Political Contributions and Expenditures

GM PAC is governed by the GM PAC Board of Directors, and contributions are overseen by the Steering Committee. GM PAC makes political contributions pursuant to a robust vetting and review process and in accordance with GM PAC Articles of Organization and Governing Policies.

Using the following criteria, GM's Political Action Committee (GM PAC) contributions are guided by a Board of Directors appointed by the Chief Executive Officer of GM:

- (1) Representation of a district with a GM facility and/or employees, retirees, and other constituents of importance (e.g., suppliers);
- (2) General support of issues of importance to GM and/or the industry; and,
- (3) Placement in a leadership position or on a key committee of importance to GM and/or the industry.

Even if a candidate meets the base criteria, a candidate can be disqualified from receiving contributions from GM if:

- a) the candidate, while seeking or holding a public office is found guilty of a felony or a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude; or
- b) espouses or endorses public positions which are persistently and patently inconsistent with GM's stated corporate values.

Direct corporate political contributions will also be guided by the above set of criteria.

Consistent with our commitment to ethical business conduct, political spending reflects GM's interests and is not based on the personal interests of any of our individual officers, directors, or employees. Furthermore, no contributions are given in anticipation of, in recognition of, or in return for any official act.

Employee Political Activity

Some GM employees take an active role through the voluntary GM PAC. GM PAC, and associated state PACs, are independent of any political party. They are designed to provide employees with the ability to make financial contributions that can be used to support candidates and participate in the political process. Our employee political action committee spending plans are reviewed and approved by the PAC’s Steering Committee and receive compliance review before contributions are made.

Political Compliance

GM Legal Staff ensures compliance with laws including reporting obligations. In addition:

- GM provides training for employees who may interface with public officials; and
- GM’s intranet site includes policies related to lobbying, gifts, contributions, and political fundraising including for personal political activity.
- GM PAC undergoes a financial compliance audit by an external auditor after each election cycle.

The Global Public Policy and General Counsel and Corporate Secretary oversees GM’s corporate political activity and the GM PAC.

GM★PAC

Contributions to GM PAC are not deductible for federal income tax purposes. Contributions to the GM PAC will be used for political purposes in connection with federal and state elections and are subject to the prohibitions and limitations of the Federal Election Campaign Act. Under federal law, the maximum permitted individual contribution to a political action committee is $5,000 per calendar year. All contributions to the GM PAC are voluntary. Eligible employees have the right to refuse to contribute without reprisal, and any guidelines for contributing are merely suggestions. You may give more or less, or not at all. You will not be favored or disadvantaged by reason of the amount contributed or the decision of whether to contribute. The deduction you select will continue until you elect to have it discontinue. Please note that federal law requires political action committees to report the name, mailing address, employer, and occupation for each individual whose total contributions to the PAC exceed $200 in a calendar year, and such information is public record. Contributions from foreign nationals, or permanent residents (green card holders) not residing in the U.S., are prohibited. For further information on the GM PAC privacy statement, please visit www.gmpac.com.
